Weslthy Residents Want Structures That Cross the Shore Read That They May Land From Their Yachts-Other People of the Town Want to Enjoy the Road.

OTSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 2 .- Oyster Bay is fighting for her supposed ancient right of free passage along what is known as the ore road, which skirts Sagamore Hill ind is a favorite riding path for President Roosevelt. Feeling in Oyster Bay and the neighboring villages runs so high that a good of indignant citizens led, it is said, wan official tore down yesterday evening o stone walls on the shore front of Louis Tiffany, the New York jeweller.

To-day the pier belonging to Mrs. J. West Roosevelt, on which the President many distinguished visitors and many landed on their way to Sagamore Hill, was partially demolished by Highway Commissioners F. W. Hauxhurst of Cyster Bey and E. M. Underhill of Glen Cove. The issioners led a force of laborers to be attack. They rather expected trouble. They were raked with a verbal cross fire women of the household when they stacked a pier on Fred L. Coudert's place but managed to accomplish their purpose section of the pier belonging to George Maxwell of New York was also destroyed and a part of the remains of Mr. Tiffany's wall was removed by the officials in order that the demolition might afford grounds for legal action if Mr. Tiffany thought ront of Oyster Bay to the town is backed y public sentiment. In 1677 what is known the Andros Patent conveyed in fee imple to the town of Oyster Bay all land one hundred years ago the Shore road was declared a highway by the Board of Highway Commissioners. The road was surmark along the shore. Little by little, it is said, the road has been encroached on. The walls and piers which were wrecked to-day crossed the Shore |road. The town board yesterday ordered the emoval of the offending obstructions in ach instance. The officials removed only nough of the structures to give ground for legal action in a test case. Edward M. Inderhill, one of the Highway Commis-ioners, said yesterday: "When we reached Mr. Tiffany's place we found that during the night a crowd of here and done our work for us. We were told that after tearing down the walls the crowd had returned to the road and net forward retained to the road and put in two hours singing songs and waiting for Mr. Tiffany to have them arrested. He didn't show up and probably didn't mow of their presence. There was mighty little of the Tiffany wall left for the law to get action on, but we sent for the super-intendent of the place to tell him that we had come to remove the obstruction. The ad come to remove the obstruction. The and come to remove the obstruction. The superintendent didn't come but several of his men looked on while we moved we or three stones and made the town responsible in any law action. Mr. Underhill explained the hasty action of the Syosset or Hicksville citizens by saying that they had a particular grievance tening Mr. Tiffany.

sying that they had a particular grievance spinst Mr. Tiffany.

Not long ago," said Mr. Underhill, "Mr. Iiffany came before the town board and made a request that a certain road running frough his estate be changed to conform to his ideas. There was a lot of kicking spinst the alteration by farmers who saimed that they would be inconvenienced by the change. However, when Mr. Tiffany monised not to place any obstructions long the shore the town board granted his request. Then the first thing any one mew, he had built on the beach a couple of walls which prevented the passage of teams. mewher had boilt on the beastage of teams.

If he had only acted as Mr. Whitney did about his shore front property there never would have been any trouble. Mr. Whitney before he built his pier, came before the board and asked for permission to build it promplains at the same time to give build it, promising at the same time to give the public any facilities that the board might request. The board indicated how the pler ought to be built so as not to ob-struct the passage of teams, and Mr. Whit-ney not only carried out these plans, but ney not only carried out these plans, but even provided better accommodations for the public."

The piers which have been destroyed are used as landing places for the tenders of the yachts owned by the group of wealthy summer residents who have formed a colony in the neighborhood of Sagamore Hill. If the courts sustain the action of the highway commissioners the summer colony will be put to much trouble in landing on the waterfront near their homes. A case is now pending in court involving them. The Emlen Roosevelt estate is in the same controversy. Similar cases which have been tried have resulted in a victory for the twm. The fight is sure to be a bitter one.

VAUDEVILLE IN IRVING PLACE. Conried to Turn Over His Playhouse to Richard Pitrot.

Richard Pitrot, the vaudeville agent, announced yesterday that he had leased from Heinrich Conried the Irving Place Theatre and would conduct a variety show here next year and possibly this winter. MIGHTING WALLS AND PIERS. SAGE LAWYERS NOT WORRIED Over Change of Date Made in the Will

> The attorneys for the executors of the will of Russell Sage intimated yesterday that they were giving themselves little concern over the fact that in the will the date 1900 had been scratched out and 1901 nserted. It was suggested that the will had been made out in 1900, on the supposition that Mr. Sage would be around soon to sign it, but the exact day and month had been left blank. When he came to execute the document the year 1901 had come in and therefore the change in the figures was made.

It was declared yesterday that it was a minor matter, that there would be no difficulty in proving that it was signed in 1901 and that there were no changes in the document after Mr. Sage signed it. It was intimated that the witnesses to the will would swear that they saw the change in the date made before Mr. Sage signed it. The fact that there had been an interlineation in the will, without marginal notes, was known to all those who read the original document or had seen a copy of the numerous photographs made of it. The matter was thought to be of such slight importance that no attention was paid to the matter until Wednesday, when a photographic reproduction of the change was made public. Both at Mr. Sage's office and the office of De Larney Nicoll, general counsel for the executors, it was declared that the interlineation was not a serious matter. Mr. Nicoll refused to make any comment for publication.

A. Welles Stump, the attorney who has consulted with State Senator Brackett regarding a contest of the will, refused yesterday to any whether definite steps had been taken. He said that if any other attorney than himself and Senator Brackett had been brought into the case to represent the Western heirs he knew nothing about it. He declined to talk about the interlineation in the Sage will, but evidently regarded it as the Sage will, but evidently regarded it as important.

Patrick A. McManus, an attorney of 346 Broadway, who represents J. H. Sage of Troy, said yesterday that several years ago he heard Mr. Sage say that his fortune was $70,000,000 at that time. It is because of this alleged remark by Mr. Sage that estimates were made yesterday that the estate would be found to be worth $150,000,000. In case of a contest Mr. McManus aid he would be a witness for the contestants and not an attorney of record. It is understood that he will swear that he heard Mr. Sage say he intended to provide

SETTING A TIGER'S BROKEN BONE. Done With Two Pictures, a Knife and a Little Cement.

Heinrich, one of Bostock's trained tiger and the best one of the six that Trainer Henricksen puts through tricks at Coney Island, has been suffering lately from a fractured leg bone, received last April as the result of a fracas with Tammany, the untamable tiger. Yesterday it was decided that something should be done about it, and Mr. Bostock, Matt Rogers. about it, and Mr. Bostock, Matt Rogers, his manager; Henricksen, whose glance makes the fierce beasts cower; Dubs, the trainer of the baboon Napoleon; the trainer of little Muckrake, the six-monthsold baby elephant, and half a dozen other attendants got busy and lassoed him. After gettling a rope around his body and nooses around each of his legs they put him in a becoming attitude and the camera men took a flashlight picture of him. The title for this picture was:

title for this picture was:

"Magnificent Bengal tiger gasping for breath, in bonds after glorious fight against twelve human antagonista."

Then Dr. Henry Amling, the lion doctor, injected a little morphine in the tiger's paw and located the break in the bone. He rested a knife gently on the animal's wrist and gave the word. The keepers took a new hold on the ropes and gave an initation of men bracing themselves.

"Don't look at the camera, look at the tiger," said the press agent. "Anybody would think you were posing for a photograph."

Just then the flashlights happened to go off. The words to go with this picture were: "The insertion. Note the intelligent animal's expression of the murderous animal's eyes; he realizes that man is his friend after all."

all."

The knife, being in the photograph and having thus served its purpose, was discarded. The doctor put a cement cast on the ailing limb and the raging animal was released. In about two months the bones ought to be knitted together and the tiger will be able to get back on his job.

FAY TEMPLETON WEDS AGAIN.

THE BRIDE OF W. J. PATTERSON, A RICH PITTSBURG MAN.

Ceremony Performed at the Home of Miss Templeton's Sister at Ridley Park, a Fashionable Suburb of Philadelphia -Her Third Venture in Matrimony.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2.-Announcement was made to-day that Fay Templeton, the musical comedy star, was married to Wiliam J. Patterson, a wealthy man of Pittsburg, at the home of Miss Templeton's sister, the wife of Dr. Benjamin C. Giles, at Ridley Park, yesterday.

The ceremony is said to have been performed by the Rev. Francis C. Steinmetz, rector of Christ Episcopal Church at Ridley Park.

The marriage license, which was issued at Media yesterday, reads: "William J. Patterson of Pittsburg to Fay T. Osborne of New York." Inquiry at the home of Dr. Giles elicited the information from servants that neither that Miss Templeton was married to Patterson at the time announced.

The couple left Ridley Park for Philadelphia, where their baggage was checked. No information could be got as to their estination.

PITTERURG, Aug. 2.—Fay Templeton's new husband is William J. Patterson of Leyl & Patterson, widely known designing ngineers and machinists. He is wealthy, but is hardly to be classed as a millionaire-He is about 40 years old.

Fay Templeton is 41 years old and has een on the stage since childhood. Her father and mother were theatrical performers. Her last appearance was in George Cohan's musical comedy, "Fortyfive Minutes from Broadway." She closed in this piece in Chicago a few weeks ago. The actress has always been a great favorite with the public because of her cleverness as a mimic and burlesque artist Some of her most notable successes were at Weber & Fields's Music Hall, where she made a hit in impersonating leading

It has been a superstition with manager for years that anything that Fay Templeton went into would surely be a success. Many shows that were absolute failures have teen saved by getting her to jump in and take a part. One particular instance was "The Runaways" at the Casino several years ago. This piece was considered a hopeless case until the management got Fay Templeton. She practically created a new role for herself in the piece, added to her lines each night as she went along, and in a week she had made a success of the show.

Miss Templeton's first matrimonial venture as far as can be ascertained was with Billy West, the minstrel man. She left him after a honeymoon of six days.

While Howell Osborn, who died in 1895, was alive there was always a question as to whether or not he was married to Fay Templeton. Many persons asserted that they were married, while others were equally positive that they were not. The fact that Osborn and the actress always denied that they were married caused the belief that they were married caused the belief that they were merely good friends to become general.

After the death of Osborn and the subsequent settlement of his affairs the secret came out. It was then that the actress began to sign her name Fay Osborn and also to have her friends address her as Mrs. Osborn. She let it then be known that she and Osborn had been married in a little town in France many years before.

she and Osborn and been married in a little town in France many years before.

The reason for their keeping the secret was apparent. When Howell Osborn's mother died her will distinctly said that if her son married an actress the money she left him was to go to a charitable institution which had a large reversionary interest in the estate. Osborn feared that this institution might get the money allotted to him should his marriage be established.

His income was more than $30,000 a year. It is said that during the remaining year of his life he saved a part of this and had it placed to the account of the actress. In this way he was able to leave her upon his death something like $100,000. He had no control over the estate of his mother and only got the interest. Her fortune at his death went to the charitable institution she had endowed.

Osborn and the actress lived together as many wife for years. Osborn and the actress lived together as man and wife for years. He died in Fay Templeton's home in this city.

GOLD MINES. I WANT A PARTNER.

I control the mining right in a tract of mineral land several miles square. On it are three placers very rich in gold. Much gold has been taken from these properties with pick and shovel, but for further working machinery is absolutely necessary. A gold nugget worth ninety dollars was taken from one of these properties. There are large quartz veins on the properties, but it is not known whether they contain gold, as no development work has been done. Price for a half interest in the mining right in this very large tract of mineral land is only $10,000, and $5,000 of this to be used. and $5,000 of this to be used for development purposes, prospecting for the vein, for mation of other companies, &c. The placers with inexpensive machinery are sure dividend payers. This tract of mineral land, when developed, will undoubtedly pay big dividends on many million dollars. Only 12 hours from New York city. C. A. PARSONS, South Dudswell, Quebec, Canada.
